Welcoming Cleaner Ships and More in Latest 'Pulse of the Port' New episode of award-winning video series now playing

August 3, 2012

The latest installment of the award-winning "Pulse of the Port" video series starts with a trip on one of the Port's free harbor tours and then takes a look at a new program designed to bring cleaner, less-polluting ships to Long Beach.

We embark on one of the Port's Sunset Tours, new this year, which give residents a chance to get an up-close, insider's look at the harbor. From there we learn about the Port's new Green Ship

Award Program, which offers financial inducements for less-polluting Tier 2 and Tier 3 vessels to dock here in Long Beach. Click here.

Then get a lesson on one of the many tools used by U.S. Customs and Border Protection to keep the Port of Long Beach and surrounding communities safe -- the Non-Intrusive Inspection system, which can penetrate 12 inches of steel, allowing officers to inspect containers without opening them. From there, we stop by a free business seminar hosted by the Port of Long Beach and the Long Beach Area Chamber of Commerce. The event attracted close to 150 local business owners, who came to hear practical advice on how to sell their products and services abroad. Click here.

And finally, the Port brought its own cool car, a refrigerated container, out to the 2nd Annual Bixby Knolls Dragster Expo. While taking a look at the vehicles and exhibits, attendees had a chance to learn more about the Port's efforts to boost business, add jobs and cut pollution. Click here.
